

CAMBRIA CONSULTING

IMPLEMENTING TOMORROW'S BEST HR PRACTICES

Cambria Consulting develops human resource management processes that help our clients connect strategy to action.

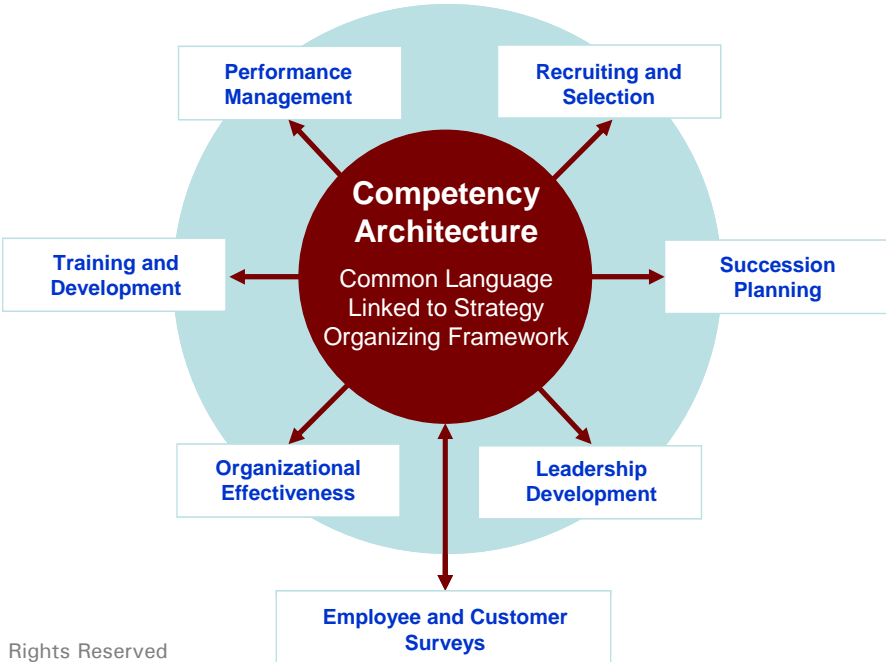

Cambria Consulting develops integrated HR solutions that help our clients build and sustain the organizational and individual capabilities necessary for superior performance.

Our fundamental approach is competency-based — focused on the factors that distinguish superior from average performance.

We use the latest technology wherever possible to implement and leverage all of our services.

Cambria Consulting helps organizations implement business strategy by aligning what employees do on a day-to-day basis with the goals of the organization to produce exceptional results. Our services bridge the gap between the strategy consulting firms and transactional HR processes. Cambria focuses hiring, performance management, promotion, professional and management development, and succession planning on the core competencies needed to create and sustain competitive advantage.

Cambria Consulting begins each engagement by gaining an in-depth understanding of our client's business situation and requirements. We then develop HR management processes that focus on the most critical factors affecting individual and organizational performance. Even though the initial need might be a more effective hiring process, a better performance management system, or a revised training and development curriculum, we believe that these applications should not stand alone but be seamlessly connected to related HR processes — what we call an integrated HR architecture.
